Quis Quid Club Inducts New Members

Boys Serve Refreshments

Seven freshmen were inducted as members into the Quis Quid Club at its monthly meeting, held February 18.

Following an explanation of the purpose of the club and a welcome to the new members by Doralyn Olberding, were the induction ceremonies. Charter members of the club tested the candidates' knowledge of Latin in divers ways.

The following gained membership: Ruth Barnes, Mary Catherine Bergman, Eileen Dick, Dolores Godbout, Aurelia Fox, Shirley Hunninghake and Mark Koch, who received a prize for his "Roman cake."

Invitations to membership were issued in Latin and only to those freshmen who had maintained an average of B through the first semester. Kathleen Kuckelman and Norbert Schmits received invitations but were unable to be present on account of illness. Upon application, they may pass under the yoke at the club meeting in March.

Other activities of the meeting were the roll call, answered by Latin idioms, plans for the next meeting, and a lunch prepared and served by the boys of the club: Billy Kohake, John Stitz, Paul Skoch and Kenneth Broxterman.

CLASS TO PLANT VICTORY GARDEN

The class in agriculture is making detailed plans for a class project in the form of a victory garden, to be plotted in a corner of the school grounds this spring. The youthful horticulturists hope to sell some of their produce and to buy war stamps with the proceeds.

In due time, according to their plans, the observer will see even rows of lettuce, radishes, onions, peas, beans, and potatoes.

The class which includes six girls and five boys, is comprised mostly of sophomores.

Strains from the music room indicate that the glee club is tuning up for a program. The members promise a musical treat soon.

Don't forget the basketball game tonight at Marion Hall—Baileyville vs. Bern.

STATE SUPERVISOR VISITS B. H. S.

Gives Favorable Report

Mr. M. A. Callahan, supervisor of Kansas High Schools, accompanied by Mr. E. J. Wilson, superintendent of Nemaha county schools, made an official inspection visit at Baileyville High School, Monday, February 8.

In his report, Mr. Callahan made very favorable comment on the "number of splendid facilities added" since his last visit, two years ago. His special comment on the building was that it was very neat and clean, with bright appearance, and that the late additions of rooms, equipment, cabinets and tables, were valuable assets to the school and community.

HOME EC. CLASS SERVES DINNER

To prove that they can cook and serve a dinner in perfect fashion, the Home Ec class concluded the first semester's work by giving a dinner of complete menu at 12:30 p. m. on February 11 in the Home Ec Lab.

The guests of honor were: Rev. H. H. Grosdidier, Mr. A. W. Hammes, Mr. Louis Buessing, and Mr. Pat Larkin.

The young hostesses carried out a valentine motif in their decorations and menu and were highly complimented on their abilities as cooks.

General Science Class Makes Booklets

Completing a unit in science, the freshmen each made booklets illustrating the types of simple machines and their purposes. The books were creditably done, and some of them not only showed a knowledge of science but an adeptness at illustrating their learning.

The most scientific and artistic booklets were made by Aurelia Fox, who won first prize; Gertrude Broxterman, second prize; and Eileen Dick and Dolores Godbout who tied for third place.

MARY HENRY WINS IN ELIMINATIONS

To Represent B. H. S. In Diocesan Contest

LOCAL CONTEST WILL BE MARCH 24

Mary Henry, Junior, will represent Baileyville High School in the Leavenworth Diocesan Apologetics Contest to be held in Xavier Auditorium, St. Mary's College, Leavenworth, Kansas, on March 12, according to a decision of the judges at the final eliminations held at B. H. S. last Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Henry has been an active participant for the past two years in the local Apologetics contests and each time received second prize. The title of her essay this year is: "Is One Religion As Good As Another?"

The local finals will be held in the school auditorium on Wednesday evening, March 24, before the parish. The winners of the preliminaries and the title of their essays are: Grace Bergman, "Why I Am A Catholic"; Joseph Ronnebaum, "Why A Catholic Press"; Ethel Carroll, "Atheism Doesn't Make Sense"; Martha Haug, "Why Catholics Honor Mary"; Doralyn Olberding, "Catholics, To Whom Shall We Turn to Win This War And To Save Our Souls"; Mildred Broxterman, "Can There Be World Christian Unity"; Kenneth Broxterman, "What We Mean by Third Rationing Program Carried on at B. H. S.

Baileyville High School is doing its bit to help Uncle Sam in his great problem of winning the war. For the third time, teachers are giving freely of their time to help with the rationing program.

Oxer 200 car owners applied for gasoline stamps last November, and over 1400 registered for sugar books last May. About the same number are expected to obtain Ration Book II for processed foods.

The Baileyville school has not dismissed classes during any of the rationing programs.

Spiritual Vaccination

It is a known fact that people can shape one another's life, merely by their presence and their unspoken examples. In every group there is a leader and there are those who are led. Some influence, others are influenced. This is especially true in school where there is a constant interplay of examples and counter examples.

In your own life, you are going to influence others or you are going to be influenced by them. Your course of action will include a sort of spiritual and mental "vaccination" through adequate preparation and exercise of good character traits in order to resist the subtle influence that is bound to flow from daily contact with others. If you are wise in selecting your companions and try to associate, both at work and play, with exemplary companions, personal influence will result in a benefit to you.

On the contrary, don't forget that your life is bound to wield a powerful influence over others for good or evil according to the example manifested in your daily conduct. If you respect yourself and live up to your ideals, the admiration and respect of the world will be yours.

Prayer and Sacrifice--- the Price of Peace

Lent, is a season of penance and self-denial, brings more vividly to us the sufferings, tortures, and agonies which Christ endured to save mankind and merit for each of us the personal gift of peace. None of us is without some guilt which is often a menace to our peace; since the shedding of Christ's Saving Blood we need never be without this great prize. Peace with God means peace with ourselves and with our neighbor, and one peace with Him is established, the path to world-wide peace is paved.

Christ bought peace for us by prayer and sacrifice. We are called upon for sacrifices very small compared to those made by the boys on the assembly lines. Our country asks little of us but our love of God and country demands that we earnestly pray and couple our prayers with sacrifices, offering them in union with Christ's sufferings for us.

Lent offers splendid opportunities of this sort. Don't miss your chance to help win peace for the world.

Like cattle at a water-hole,
Some students push and shove;
They never heard of patience,
And no one bears them love.

A lover's loved by all the world,
And all fall prey to Cupid;
But pubic romance is absurd—
It's never smart—it's stupid!

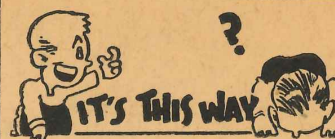

Closed doors may not say 'Private'

To save themselves explaining.

GRADE NOTES

PAGAN BABIES ARE RANSOMED

The fine work done by the following boys and girls for the ransom of pagan babies will bring many blessings upon them, their homes, their school, and their city. They are real missionaries!

Joseph Gockel and Mary Gockel have named their baby, John Francis. Gilbert, Kathleen, and Elsie Haug chose Virgil Bernard as the name for their adopted little "brother".

Eighth Grade

Members of the eighth grade are busy counting their pennies these days. They aim to buy a pagan baby girl and boy. At the first gathering of the news the boys led by 13 lucky cents, but the tide changed and the girls added 50 cents. The boys knew that they were ahead but didn't know how much. Before they stopped finding pennies in the depth of their pockets they were in the lead by 63 cents.

Wonders never cease! A pleasant surprise came to the eighth grade on February 4, when the class had 100 per cent assignments in arithmetic. Every member had his paper in on time. The conclusion was that the class but needed a beginning for it has happened several times since.

A certain amount of red lead is being saved this week in school. The reason for this was a wager with the teacher to raise the F's and D's in spelling to A's. The reward for such achievement is to be a gold miraculous medal.

So far the following have no grade below 98 per cent: Emmett Becker, Kathleen Broxterman, Betty Broxterman, Gerald Hammes, Elmer Feldkamp, and Leona Koelzer. Watch the next issue of the Bugler for the list of those who have an average of 95.

The class of '43 have chosen navy blue and white as their class colors. Their motto is: "Unless God be with us, all our hope is in vain." Their patroness is the Blessed Virgin Mary; their flower, the sweet pea.

The class regrets the loss of Betty Broxterman who will attend St. Bridget's school.

The seventh and eighth grade boys are proud of their new baseball mask. Thanks to Father Grosdidier.

Seventh Grade

The seventh grade boys and girls are always interested in the work of the Holy Childhood and are topnotchers at saving their pennies for the pagan babies. The following have thus far contributed all the way from fifty cents to $1.15 toward the work of saving souls: Meinrad Bergman, Aloysius Olberding, William McGehee, Linus Koch, Gerald Heiman, and Elmer Buessing. The remainder of the class too, are doing their part.

Gilbert Haug, Raymond Fox, Virginia Nolte, Elmer Buessing, Cora Ann Schulte, Gerald Heiman, Raymond Mathewson, Kenneth Rethman, Aloysius Olberding, and Meinrad Bergman are indeed happy to be among the few who up to the present maintain their perfect attendance record.

The seventh grade enjoyed a valentine party, Friday, February 12. Games were played, refreshments served, and valentines distributed.

The following are considered the best geometrical designs: Meinrad Bergman, Gilbert Haug, and Kathleen Hammes.

Fifth and Sixth Grades

We are sorry to part with Phyllis Godbout who is moving away. During the present year, Phyllis has acted as class librarian. We wish her well and much success in her new school. She has been so thoughtful of everyone that we shall miss her greatly.

Francis Broxterman who has been in our school since September, has won many friends. In losing Francis, we are losing a fine lad, a dependable server, and a good ball player. Francis, we wish you the best of luck.

We welcome Bonnie Williams to the fifth grade and Edward Williams to the sixth. We hope they will like Baileyville School.

Twenty-one fifth and sixth graders who sent their writing to the National Board of Examiners received word that their awards would be coming soon. Congratulations, all!

The fifth and sixth graders have gone a step farther in their St. Sebastian-Tekakwithan Clubs. Besides their ordinary dues each side is collecting sufficient funds to buy two pagan babies in honor of their club patrons. To date the Tekakwithans are ahead of the St. Sebastian Club. Congratulations, girls!

Third and Fourth Grades

Many thanks to Father Grodier for our new silk flag.

Fourteen from the third and fourth grades received word that they had passed the writing test.

Joan Bergman received a prize for winning the snowman race. Who will have their dove flying highest by the next issue of the BUGLER?

The girls are ahead of the boys in the Holy Childhood race.

Washington Program Given by Tiny Tots

The first and second grades entertained the grade and high school students of Baileyville last Monday in the auditorium with a program in honor of George Washington.

Jimmie Haug welcomed the visitors. Songs and patriotic selections were given by the following: Evelyn Koch, Mary Agnes Deters, Will Rogers Rettele, Marion Wietarn, Betty Barnes, Kathleen Haverkamp, Charlotte Severin, Norma Jean Godbout, Gerald Ronnebaum, Eugene Haug, LeRoy Deters. The last number of the program was "God Bless America" by the group.

So great was the repertoire of songs, and so gracious were the little entertainers in answering the encores of the audience, that they had much difficulty in getting the final curtain to fall. The appreciation of the audience was a tribute to the splendid performances of the tiny tots.

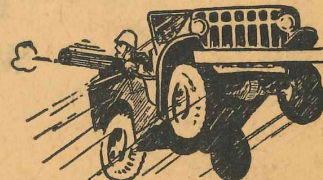

Latin Teacher: "What does 'avis' mean?"

Bright Student: "Grandpapa."

Teacher: "Billy, the better you do it the more you'll like it."

Billy: "The more I do it the better she likes it!"

The Agriculture class displayed naps which showed the grain areas in the United States.

ALUMNI

Robert Waters, '41, spent a few minutes visiting the school while he was home on leave.

Lela Haug, who has been doing defense work in Wichita, is home for an indefinite stay.

Eleanor Olberding, '42, was married to Linus Henry at Sacred Heart church, Saturday, Feb. 6. Rev. H. H. Grosdidier officiated.

Wedding bells will ring for Helen Wessel, '40, and William Hermesch of Kelly, on March 3.

Elmer Hunninghake, who is in the Navy, will arrive home on a furlough March 3.

News Bits

The short story contest closes on March 1. For the best story submitted in the high school division of the Sodality, Mrs. Angela Clendenin is offering an award of ten dollars.

The members of the sewing class are beginning work on jerkins, skirts and blouses.

Billy Kohake is getting about on crutches. He had a callous removed from his foot.

Mary Faith Kohake's name should have appeared on the honor roll in the last BUGLER. Our profound apologies, Mary Faith!

Latin A freshmen enjoy the occasional warm-up before class. Singing rounds in Latin has become an interesting feature.

Action! Thrills! No, it's not some great performance but still it is! Who doesn't like to see a girl's game? And the Baileyville Cardinals made it extra special.

The Cardinals played Axtell on the evening of Feb. 11. The opponents had to work for their score against the competition of the B. H. S. Girls. At the close of the game the score was announced 30-10, in favor of the Axtell team.

Rose Ann Reinecke played a splendid game and we are sorry to hear that she is withdrawing from the team. Many thanks for all those baskets you threw in our goal.

The Axtell Game did not discourage the Cardinals; they won against Oneida. The score was 16-30 in favor of Baileyville. Those on the first team were: Doralyn Olberding, Geraldine Haug, and Darlene Strathman as forwards. Shirley Ann Hunninghake, Ruth Barnes and Mary Ann Waters as guards. Others who filled in during the third quarter were: Edna Olberding, Rita Haug, Gertrude Broxterman, Mary Cath-

Washington Honored At General Assembly

The freshmen and sophomores of B. H. S. honored George Washington and Abraham Lincoln in song and verse last Monday, Feb. 22, at a general assembly.

Roll call, answered by quotations from Washington, was very interesting. Outstanding numbers were: "The American Creed," by Galen Heiman; "The Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight," by Mary Catherine Bergman; and "O, Captain, My Captain," by Gertrude Broxterman.

The remainder of the program was as follows: "Mt. Vernon Bells," song by the freshmen and sophomores; "Washington's Prayer for the U. S.," by Mary Faith Kohake; "Washington's Determination," by Rozella Kuckelman; "Washington's Farewell Address," Dorothy Buessing; "Washington and Our Schools and Colleges," by Kathleen Kuckelman; "A Tribute to Lincoln," by Margaret Haug; "Barbara Fritchie," by Mildred Broxterman; "A Name that Brings a Picture," by Aurelia Fox; "Quotations from Lincoln," by Paul Skoch; "Lincoln's Glorious Name," by Elmer Lee Hammes; "William Taft's Speech on Lincoln," by Dolores Godbout; "America," sung by all. Ruth Barnes was chairman of the program.

Because the diocesan contest is early in Lent this year, Miss Henry will not compete in the local finals for a prize; and as we go to press, it is rumored that only the first two chosen from each class will participate on March 24.

SENIORS CHOOSE CLASS FLOWER, COLORS, MOTTO

The seniors of '43 are noted for the dispatch with which they take care of things. In the twinkling of an eye (almost) they selected their class accidentals last Monday, February 22, during the second period.

Following are the results of their unanimous deliberations: blue and gold, colors; the iris, flower; "Onward to Victory," the motto; and the Blessed Virgin

Classes Entertain Each Other at Program

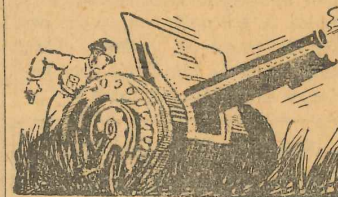

Pride welled in the hearts of the youthful Jayhawkers of Baileyville on Kansas Day when the students of the grade and the high school met in the auditorium to entertain each other.

The program was as follows: "Allegiance to the flag," song by the fifth and sixth grades; "Where Kansas Ranks," by Paul Skoch; "Kansas Song," by the seniors; "Seal of Kansas," by Elmer Lee Hammes; "The Jayhawker Song," by the third and fourth grades; "Kansas Song," by the eighth grade; "The Call of Kansas," by Georgie Johnson; "We're from Kansas," by the seventh grade; "Little Cock Sparrow," by the first and second grades; "The Origin of Kansas Day," by Mildred Broxterman; "The School for Victory," by fifth and sixth grades; "The Star Spangled Banner," sung by all.

Eugene Stallbaumer announced the numbers.

Mary under the title, "Our Lady of Victory," class patroness.

The juniors are happy to know that the seniors' choice of flower, motto and colors, will expedite the plans which have already been made for the prom.
